

Merry Christmas and Stay Safe

HSE Message 2025

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas and as our work for the year winds down remember safety never takes a holiday

Buying Presents – Planning Ahead

Just like planning your Christmas shopping early avoids last-minute stress, planning your work and prioritising tasks prevents rushing and mistakes

Make a list – check it twice (work priorities and deadlines)

Avoid last-minute panic – plan isolations and permits early

Communicate with your team about what's needed before the break

Wrapping Presents – Attention to Detail

Wrapping gifts neatly takes care and patience – the same applies to finishing jobs safely

Don't cut corners – follow SOPs

Double-check isolations and lockouts

Quality matters – leave the plant in a safe state

Putting Up the Tree – Solid Foundations

A Christmas tree needs a strong base to stand tall – your work needs solid planning and hazard controls

Secure the base – risk assessments done

Decorate safely – PPE and correct tools

Keep balance – don't overload yourself or the team

Hanging the Lights – Watch for Hidden Risks

Hanging lights means checking for frayed wires and safe ladders – at work, look for hidden hazards before starting

Inspect equipment before use

Manage fatigue and distractions

Stay alert for electrical and mechanical risks

Cleaning the Chimney – Clear the Path

Santa needs a clear chimney – you need a clear workspace

Remove clutter and trip hazards

Keep access ways clear for emergency exits

Good housekeeping = fewer incidents

Milk, Cookies & Carrots – Look After Everyone

Leaving treats for Santa and his reindeer shows you care – look out for your team and yourself

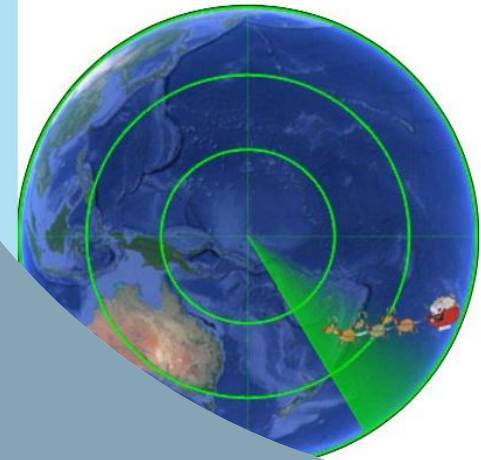

Share the load – teamwork matters

To those who are still working through - Thank You

Check in on wellbeing

Celebrate safely – no shortcuts

Santa Takes a Break – So Should You!

Just as Santa needs a rest after delivering gifts, we need to recharge and look after ourselves.

Holidays can be stressful – plan time to relax

Don't overload your sleigh – manage your workload and mental health

Speak up if you're feeling overwhelmed (Santa asks for help too!)

Merry Christmas
